Student Learning Outcomes

- The successful student will be able to apply music theory as they perform intermediate fingerpicking styles and categorize chords into primary and secondary triads.
- Successful students will be able to make a comparison of folk and pop melodies based on an understanding of intermediate right and left hand techniques.

Description

Development of traditional finger-picking style playing and picking techniques. Solo and ensemble performance on an intermediate level. Emphasis on reading traditional notation, chord symbols and tablature. This course is a continuation of the study of the guitar in the popular and folk idiom. Through analysis, singing, performing and listening, various songs and styles will be studied. This is a performance based course with the broad range of folk music as its subject matter.

Course Objectives

The student will be able to:

- Apply intermediate aspects of music theory as they relate to popular and folk guitar.
- Demonstrate finger-picking in 4/4.
- Analyze the form and structure of contemporary and traditional folk songs.
- Demonstrate strumming and finger-style techniques for folk songs accompaniment.
- Memorize musical notation for the guitar (tablature, chord diagrams and standard notation).
- Practice secondary chord positions (II,III,VI) in seven keys.
- Examine left hand technique (alternating bass, hammering-on, pulling off, and bass runs).
- Examine right hand technique (strumming, arpeggios, and finger picking).

- Demonstrate folk improvisation by using bass runs, slides and suspensions.
- Memorize note reading (C and G scales and simple melodies).
- Recognize the form and structure of songs studied and listened to in class.
- Compare the contributions made in the folk guitar repertoire from people of diverse backgrounds and cultures with changes in technology.
