Although these texts are older than the suggested "5 years or newer" standard, they remain seminal in this area of study. Supplemental readings are provided in the form of a course reader for a more current analysis.

Types and/or Examples of Required Reading, Writing, and Outside of Class Assignments

A. Reading assignments: Reading of one or more textbook essays for each of the lecture topics, plus online lecture.

B. Writing assignments: Three 1000-word essays responding to a prompt, such as:

1. Address the following in a 1000 word essay on Sandy Skoglund's image titled "Radioactive Cats?"

a. Definitions of Art

1) Is the work of art the photograph, the installation, or both?

2) If this were a documentary photograph taken by Skoglund of an actual situation, would the photograph have the same status as art as Skoglund's photograph of the installation?

b. Artist-Centered Issues

1) Had Skoglund used mannequins instead of models for this work, how would it be different?

c. Audience-Centered Issues

1) If you hate this kind of green or gray, do you have to hate this piece?

2) Does the artist tell you something you already know about cats or does she give you new information about them?

d. Cultural Context

1) What does this work tell you about men and women in this society?

2) How might people from other societies view these pets?

e. Criticism and Interpretation

1) What does the title tell you about this work's meaning? Do you have to know the title to have the same interpretation?

2) Would a cat lover be likely to like this work or think it is good art?

Would someone who is allergic to cats?

f. Values in Art

1) Does this work teach us a lesson about people and animals? About how life should be?

2) What kind of place besides an art museum would be a good place to show this work? Why?
